

DO'S AND DON'TS FOR EXAM/LICENSE APPLICANTS

Do's

- Do complete the application form correctly and submit with the required fee and education documents. Most deficiencies arise out of failing to answer all questions on the application.
- Do answer all questions regarding prior disciplinary action(s) honestly and truthfully.
- Do submit evidence of course completion. Copies of course completion certificates or official transcripts are generally acceptable evidence of completed courses and should accompany the application.

Don'ts

- Don't forget when mailing the application to sign it and send in the appropriate fee. Refer to form RE 206 for fee information.
- Don't send cash when mailing the application packet.
- Don't submit duplicate applications. This may result in your account being charged twice.

Obtaining a California Real Estate Salesperson License

TO OBTAIN A SALESPERSON LICENSE

You must:

- Be at least 18 years of age.
- Be honest and truthful. Conviction of a crime or prior disciplinary action may result in denial of the license.

There are two ways you can apply for a salesperson license.

1. APPLY FOR THE EXAM AND THEN THE LICENSE

Apply for the Salesperson Examination online through eLicensing or submit a completed form RE 400A via mail/fax, along with the exam fee and proof of completion of a course in Real Estate Principles, a course in Real Estate Practice, and one course from the following list of electives:

- Real Estate Appraisal
- Real Estate Finance
- Real Estate Economics or General Economics
- Legal Aspects of Real Estate
- Real Estate Office Administration
- General Accounting
- Business Law
- Property Management
- Escrows
- Mortgage Loan Brokering and Lending
- Common Interest Developments
- Computer Applications in Real Estate

If you mail the application packet, send the completed exam application, fee, and course transcripts to the address on the back of the form. If you submit the application online, all documents will need to be electronically uploaded and fees paid online with a credit/debit card.

Once your application has been processed and all qualifications have been met, you will receive an e-mail notifying you that you may schedule your exam date through our eLicensing system.

After you pass the examination, you must log onto your eLicensing account to download a Salesperson License Application, form RE 202.

Complete and submit the license application, along with the required fee. You must also submit a completed Live Scan Service Request, form RE 237. A license cannot be issued until DRE receives fingerprint response information from the Department of Justice.

DRE will send an email once your license has been issued. License certificates can be printed online using our eLicensing system.

2. APPLY FOR THE EXAM AND LICENSE AT THE SAME TIME

Apply for the Salesperson Exam/License online through eLicensing or submit a completed form RE 435 and mail it along with BOTH the exam fee and the license fee.

Make sure you answer ALL questions on the application and sign where indicated.

Submit proof of completion of a course in Real Estate Principles, a course in Real Estate Practice and one course from the following list of electives:

- Real Estate Appraisal
- Real Estate Finance
- Real Estate Economics or General Economics
- Legal Aspects of Real Estate

- Real Estate Office Administration
- General Accounting
- Business Law
- Property Management
- Escrows
- Mortgage Loan Brokering and Lending
- Common Interest Developments
- Computer Applications in Real Estate

Submit a completed Live Scan Service Request, form RE 237. A license cannot be issued until DRE receives fingerprint response information from the Department of Justice.

If you mail the application packet, send the completed exam application, fee, and course transcripts to the address on the back of the form. If you submit the application online all documents will need to be electronically uploaded and fees paid online with a credit/debit card.

Once your application has been processed and all qualifications have been met, you will receive an e-mail notifying you that you may schedule your exam date through our eLicensing system.

After you have passed the examination, and assuming there are no outstanding deficiencies, your license number will be issued at the exam site. License certificates can be printed online using our eLicensing system.
